RENEWABLE ENERGY TRACK AT COP21

COP21 is expected to be a turning point in the fight against climate change. The energy sector, accounting for two-thirds of global emissions, must be a top priority for action if we are to keep global temperature rise below 2°C.

For the first time at any UN climate conference, renewable energy solutions will be showcased in a series of high profile events. This renewable energy track, named RE-Energising the Future (#REenergise), will demonstrate that renewable energy deployment is the fastest, cleanest, most reliable and most economically beneficial way to meet our climate goals.

1 DECEMBER, TUESDAY

THE GLOBAL GEOTHERMAL ALLIANCE (GGA) HIGH-LEVEL EVENT

TIME: 8.45am - 10.00am VENUE: Peruvian Pavilion

This event will gather the global energy and environment community to raise awareness of the key role of geothermal energy as a solution to climate change. It will discuss concrete actions to accelerate geothermal deployment through the Alliance.
